

CA Clarity™ PPM - Services

Value Added Partnership

Functional administration is not a full time job. So, why tie up a Full Time Employee, with $10K boot camp training plus travel expenses and productivity losses due to time out of the office to do a part-time job? Keep your system current and meet your business needs without being dependent on high priced consultants for configurations! We provide functional consultants who actually KNOW project management and how Project Managers actually use the system. Our consultants are PMP certified, and have been in the field for over 10 years. We have implemented, upgraded and Customized numerous systems and know how to use the system to its fullest. Typical Clarity Consultants have not actually been Project Managers, so they sometimes write use cases and requirements in a way that no one would actually use the system. As a result, you have resistance to the product and Project Managers not willing to give up their existing ways.
